

Delivering $1.90 Conversions For Golf Apparel Referrals

Introduction

Summit Golf Brands is an apparel conglomerate that operates multiple brands in the golfing apparel space, with a mix of e-commerce, retail, and wholesale sales channels. Summit Golf had used a referral program on multiple brands with little to no results and wanted to try a referral new product before giving up on referral marketing. They decided to work with Prosper on their BDraddy brand to create and manage a referral marketing channel.

Case Study

Challenge

The existing referral solution was not working for other brands, and no solution was in place for BDraddy. A new type of referral software needed to be implemented and tested to increase referral-led sales to become a meaningful marketing channel.

Prosper worked with BDraddy to design and place a referral widget on their brand's website.We started by testing high-visibility placements on their website and settled on adding a referral widget to their product display page with an offer for 20% off the next order if a customer shared the product with a friend.

Our solution was implemented on their website, and after 4 weeks of A/B testing to confirm the new widget and promotion weren't reducing conversions or having an effect on the user experience, Prosper became a full-time part of the website.
